Keystone Activity Policy

Because maintaining a consistent pace throughout a course improves academic performance Keystone has established the following Course Activity Policy:

- To be considered active, students must begin their coursework and submit at least 1 weighted assignment in each course within 30 days of enrollment. Thereafter, students must continue to submit at least one weighted assignment every 30 days in each course.
- Students who plan to be inactive for 30 days or more must contact Keystone Student Services to place their course(s) on hold. Placing a course on hold will not extend the due date.
- If there are 30 days without activity in a course, and the course has not been placed on hold, the course no longer qualifies for a refund, but the student retains the right to complete and receive credit for the course through the assigned due date.
